ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

A focused gathering for Europe's class-action community

Business of Class Actions Europe brings together the people behind collective litigation across Europe to discuss how collective actions work in practice — from building and funding cases to certification, settlement and distribution.

Designed as a practical, business-oriented forum, the conference focuses on the questions that matter: what makes collective actions succeed, where they fail and how different stakeholders are shaping the market across Europe.

Hosted at World of Wine in Porto, the event combines a focused programme with meaningful networking and one of Europe's most active collective redress jurisdictions.

10:05	PANEL The Negative Space: Why Collective Redress Fails to Launch This discussion explores where collective redress was poorly implemented, dead on arrival, or never adopted, and why: procedural, economic, institutional barriers or simply a lack of incentives.
10:55	Networking Break
11:25	PANEL Qualified Entities as Claimants: Is the Association the Only Door In? Collective redress in Europe often depends on associations, but what happens when they move too slowly, lack resources or choose not to act? Practical realities, incentives and limitations of the qualified entity model.

15:45	Networking Break
